

Hard Hat Business Advice

What is the business about?

Hard Hat Business Advice has a vision – to radically improve the statistics for business success in the UK.

Their unique 'one number' approach, helps struggling company owners to turn their businesses around to sustainable profitability in just 4 months - guaranteed.

How big is the market?

There are 4.5 million small businesses in the UK, and around 17.5 thousand of them fail each year – usually for completely preventable reasons.

How will I earn a living?

As a Hard Hat Business Advisor your role is varied and demanding. You will be delivering hands-on practical business help to a portfolio of between 5 and 10 customers at any one time.

Assignments range from group workshops, to regular monthly meetings advising small start-up businesses to full-blown turnarounds requiring 3 days a week of your time.

The situation demands people who are, direct, hands-on, practical and above all effective. You will need to be able to operate on any level and in many roles – as coach, mentor, advisor, interim manager, and trainer.

Your role is, in effect, to be the non-executive director that all business owners dream of; who will do whatever it takes to help them turn their company around and set them on a course for sustainable growth.

You can make a good living on 10 fee-earning days a month. That leaves plenty of time to spend on winning business. That means attending business networking events, meeting with prospects and preparing and presenting proposals.

You work from home, with telephone answering provided centrally by Hard Hat. Other back office services can also be provided.

Client work mostly takes place during weekdays, but you can fit the business around the lifestyle you want.

What's my return?

You can expect gross earnings of around £60,000 in your first year, rising to £120,000 and above in your second.

The Franchise in its early stages so a few opportunities exist to buy at just £18,000 + vat.
